

Preventing Utility Shut-Offs

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, various cities and companies suspended utility shut-offs in an effort to help struggling residents. Now, as shut-offs are beginning to resume, residents are being encouraged to seek financial assistance or work with their utility company to develop a payment plan if they are unable to pay their bills.

Contact your utility company as soon as possible if you anticipate being unable to pay your bill for any reason. Your utility company will walk you through available assistance options such as setting up a payment plan, applying to one of their programs, or applying for aid through a local agency.

Electric Assistance

APS

Arizona Public Service (APS) is halting power shutoffs through the end of the year and waiving late fees.

- Crisis Bill Assistance
 - Qualified customers can receive up to $800 a year to cover current or past-due APS bills through the Crisis Bill Assistance program in partnership with local agency partners. Visit the APS website or call 2-1-1 to find your local agency.
- Project SHARE
 - Qualified customers facing severe financial hardship can receive up to $300 a year in emergency energy bill assistance through APS's SHARE program in partnership with The Salvation Army. Visit the APS website or call 2-1-1 to find your local Salvation Army office.
- Customer Support Fund
 - Customers can receive a $100 credit if they are two months past due on their bill and have unexpected loss of income, higher medical or childcare expenses due to COVID-19. The fund is available through APS advisors by calling (602) 371-7171.

SRP

Salt River Project (SRP) resumed shut-offs on October 1, 2020 if customers did not follow through on repayment plans spread over eight months. SRP has paused disconnections and late payment fees for customers on the Economy Price Plan until early January 2021.

- Project SHARE
 - One-time emergency assistance for customers who, due to crisis situations, are unable to pay their basic household energy bills and have exhausted all other potential sources of aid. Customers in need of SHARE funds can request assistance by calling SRP Customer Resource Counselors at (602) 236-3000.
- Customer Resource Counselors
 - SRP Counselors can explore payment options and provide referrals to community agencies for possible assistance with SRP bills. Counselors can also sign up customers for a discount and/or programs to help customers save, reduce and manage their SRP bills. Call (602) 236-3000 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Water Assistance

Water services are controlled by the city that you live in. Some cities, districts, and municipalities have issued their own moratoriums that temporarily suspend water disconnections for nonpayment, however, customers may continue to accrue charges for water, reclaimed water, sewer, and solid waste services. If you need assistance paying your water bill, contact your city, district, or municipality's water services department as soon as possible to determine if there is a local moratorium in place, or to discuss flexible payment options. Customers can also call 2-1-1 for local agencies that may be able to offer assistance.

If your utility company is unable to provide an option that works for you, you can contact a nonprofit agency or city program that offers utility assistance. Visit the 211Arizona website or call 2-1-1 to get connected with your local utility assistance program.
